Where Blast Killed Eight Workers

A pile of splintered timbers and rubble is all that remains of a United Railway Signal company factory building near Woodbridge, N. J., following an explosion of mysterious origin which razed the structure, killing eight and injuring many others who worked in the plant. Most of the workers were girls.

TRAGEDIES PROBED; JERSEYITE IS IRKED

Simultaneous Explosions In Factories Studied; Rep. Thomas Says Government Warned Of Saboteurs In Industry

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Federal, state and local agents today studied the scattered wreckage of three violent powder plant explosions in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, attempting to determine whether the blasts which took 14 lives and left more than a score injured resulted from a sabotage plot against America's defense efforts or were linked merely by coincidence.

While charges of sabotage were sifted by the investigators, Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R) of New Jersey, laid responsibility on the door of the federal government. Too long, he charged, has it "coddled" subversive elements and delayed in adopting a "hard-boiled" attitude towards potential saboteurs. The Dies committee, Thomas said, has long warned the country that large numbers of aliens were working in defense plants.

Yesterday's blasts occurred within an hour of each other in the morning and ironically enough exactly two months to the day after Hercules powder plant blast which killed 51 at Kenvil, N. J.

Six Women Victims

The worst of the blasts killed eight persons including six women and injured 23 at the United Railway Signal Company plant at Woodbridge, N. J., three men were killed at the Trojan Powder Company at Allentown, Pa., a plant holding army and navy contracts, and three more men were killed at the Burton powder works of the American Cyanamid Corporation at Edinburg, near New Castle, Pa.

The explosions followed by only a few hours a $1,000,000 fire at Atlanta, Ga., in which much National Guard equipment was destroyed; a small fire at the Odd dry docks in Seattle where charges were made of attempts to sabotage important machinery, and a fatal accident at South San Francisco where a giant crane collapsed killing two workmen.

Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, attending a border regulations conference in Ottawa, promised a thorough inevestigation by the U. S. Department of Justice.

Army and navy agents, G-men, state police and municipal police were joined in the widespread investigations.

Damage in the Woodbridge, N. J., explosion was estimated at $100,000. The concussion was felt

RUMOR PERSISTS THAT HUGE NAZI LINER IS SUNK

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13—A persistent rumor that the 49,864-ton German luxury liner Bremen had been sunk was given added weight today in the San Francisco Danish newspaper.

The paper quoted a telegram from an unidentified source in Denmark stating the ship is lying at the bottom of the Kattegat between Denmark and Norway.

MILLIONS OF TURKEYS DESTROYED IN STORM

CHICAGO, Nov. 13—Between 2,000,000 and 4,000,000 turkeys being prepared for the Thanksgiving Day market have perished in this week's storms, it was estimated today by Jack C. Bootes, one of the nation's leading turkey raisers.

Bootes, head of a Worthington, Minn., turkey hatchery and packing company, said:

"One farm, with 30,000 grown birds, suffered a 100 percent loss. Several others with flocks of from 5,000 to 8,000 birds lost 90 percent of them."

In a Chicago suburb, one turkey farm reported it had lost 4,000 birds out of a flock of 20,000.

PLANTS WORKING ON U. S. ORDERS COMBAT STRIKES

DOWNEY, Cal., Nov. 13—More than half of the 5,200 workers at the Vultee Aircraft Plant in Downey, which holds millions of dollars worth of national defense contracts, were prepared today to strike "at any moment."

They were ordered by their C.I.O. chiefs to prepare to walk out immediately, as union and company representatives appeared to be deadlocked over the union's demand for increased wages.

Neither side expressed hope for an agreement up to a late hour last night, but were prepared to meet again today for further negotiations.

If the strike is called, 3,700 workers will walk out.

The Vultee plant holds contracts for United States military planes totaling $39,000,000 and additional contracts totaling $11,000,000 for planes for export, principally to Great Britain.

MIDLAND, Pa., Nov. 13 — The Crucible Steel Company of America plant was on the verge of a complete shutdown today with two-thirds of its 4,500 employes out on "strike" or unable to work on a heavy schedule of American and British war equipment orders.

Only 1,500 of the plant's workers were at their jobs this morning, A. L. Sonnhalter, general superintendent, declared.

BUICK AND ARMY TO CONTRACT FOR PLANE ENGINES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — Marking another important milestone in the drive to swing America's vast automobile industry into the defense program, the army will shortly sign a contract with Buick Motor Company of Flint, Mich., for millions of dollars worth of airplane engines, it was learned today.

The Buick concern will be the first of the huge automobile plants in the General Motors Corporation empire to convert part of its facilities into the field of airplane engine manufacture.

It will, however, be the third auto company to enter this category, since the Ford Motor Company recently signed a contract for $122,000,000 worth of engines, and the Packard Motor Company has signed for $62,448,000 worth of Rolls-Royce plane engines. Chrysler Corp., meanwhile, is manufacturing tanks.

STOCK MARKET OFF

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 — The stock market fell one to two points today after some irregularity at the start, as selling picked up following Tuesday's irregular decline.

LOSS OF LIFE ON LAKE GROWS AS GALE MOVES EAST

Over Hundred Die In Most Severe Storm

SHIPS BUFFETED

Below Zero Reading Noted; Chicago's Damage High

By International News Service

One of the most severe November storms of this century, which for three days has spread a path of death and destruction over most of northern United States, today was reaching to the Atlantic seaboard leaving in its wake millions of dollars in crop and property damage and upwards of 100 persons dead.

Greatest loss of life was feared to have been taken on the Great Lakes, swept by the most severe gales in 30 years, where 22 seamen were known to have been drowned and the lives of at least 60 others were despaired for. Two large freighters were believed to have gone to the bottom of Lake Michigan. These were the 7,200-ton freighter William B. Davock, and the 4,139-ton Anna Minch.

Seventeen bodies washed ashore and recovered by the coastguard between Ludington and Pentwater, Mich., were thought to be from the Davock. Some of the bodies wore Davock life preservers. Aboard the vessel were Capt. C. W. Allan of Detroit and a crew of 32.

Pieces of wreckage and life preservers from the Anna Minch were found on the shore near Pentwater, leading to belief the ship had been wrecked and its crew of 20 lost. Five bodies washed ashore near Bass Lake, three miles north of Pentwater, were believed from the Minch.

In addition, the 250-foot pulpwood carrier Novadoc, broken in the middle, was aground 12 miles off Pentwater with 19 men aboard. At an early hour this morning, buffeted by a 45-mile wind that made their work perilous in the extreme, coastguardsmen were attempting to reach the Novadoc before it sank.

Three Others Missing

Missing and believed lost were three fishing boats — the Indian, with five men aboard, and the Richard H. When and Irene, each with three men. Wreckage from the Indian was swept ashore last night.

Three steamers, the Hanna, Wilbur E. Smith and the Bethlehem, were missing on Lake Superior and long overdue at Duluth.

Three freighters and a carferry were aground. These were the freighters F. J. Peterson, Conneaut, and Frank Billings, and Carferry 12, the City of Flint. The

TOASTS PLEDGE UNITY BETWEEN REICH, RUSSIANS

Molotov, Hitler Continue Conferences; Progress Remains Dark Secret

BERLIN, Nov. 13—Chancellor Hitler entertained Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov at luncheon today as the Russian official pressed forward with negotiations aimed at a Berlin-Moscow agreement of worldwide importance.

Announcement that Hitler, Molotov and a small circle of high officials had lunched together was made after the Russian visitor called on Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, chief of the German air force during the morning, and later was received by Deputy Nazi Leader Rudolf Hess.

While details of the actual points under discussion were kept secret, all signs pointed to negotiations regarding increased Russo-German cooperation.

During last night's reception for Molotov at the Kaiserhof Hotel, it was announced, toasts were exchanged stressing friendly Russo-German relations.

Official circles laid much stress in the importance of this exchange of toasts. It means, qualified sources said, that Soviet Russia and Nazi Germany "have agreed to clasp hands and see eye to eye."

However, the exact form the new agreement will take may await Molotov's return to Moscow for a report to Josef Stalin. The impression was given that the meetings had been a spectacular success and will have tremendous future consequences in establishment of a Eurasian "new order."

During and after luncheon today, Hitler and Molotov had a talk of "record length." The concensus of responsible observers

MANY MESSAGES PROMISE UNITY TO AID NATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Pleading anew for national unity, President Roosevelt today pledged that throughout his third term he would "work shoulder to shoulder with all who place true Americanism above all other considerations."

Mr. Roosevelt was moved to issue a statement of appreciation of the many thousands of congratulatory messages which have poured into the White House since election, and he noted with particular satisfaction that many came pledging support from those who had not voted for him.

Expressions of support "from sincere men and women who did not cast votes for the administration," declared the President, "reflect a spirit of national unity in essential things that is most welcome."

"In unity we shall find our true strength."

Secretary Stephen T. Early said that extra clerks had been taken on and were doing their best to respond to these messages, but found themselves swamped. He reported that they were still arriving in mail sacks by the thousands.

BRITAIN EXTENDS ITS BLOCKADE MANY MILES

LONDON, Nov. 13 — Britain's naval blockade has been extended to Syria, French West Africa, Liberia, Portuguese Guinea, Madagascar and Reunion Island, the Ministry of Economic Warfare announced today.

All ships to or from these points must obtain navicerts after November 18, the announcement said.

Ohio Area Escapes Worst Of Cold Wave

Ohio today apparently had escaped the full force of a cold wave which swept out of the northwest during the last 48 hours. Temperatures in the state ranged from 20 above at Toledo to 25 above at Cincinnati this morning. Circleville recorded 22.

Despite the below freezing temperatures, the Buckeye State had still to see the season's first snow.

Weather observers predicted continued cold for Ohio today and tomorrow with the mercury "ranging in the low 30's and high 20's." Partly cloudy weather was predicted for Thursday.

Low temperatures in various sections of the state Tuesday night were Toledo, 20; Columbus, 24; Cincinnati, 25; Dayton, 23 and Cambridge, 25.

Armed British Merchant Vessel Saves 29 Of 38 Ships Being Convoyed At Sea; Captain's Bravery Told By Crew

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Nov. 13—A thrilling tale of naval heroism, rivaling in drama anything that may be inscribed in the golden pages of British naval tradition, was told here today by the 65 survivors of the armed English merchant cruiser, the Jervis Bay.

They told of how with a reckless disregard for almost certain death they sailed out with all guns firing to do battle with a vastly superior Nazi pocket battleship, saving, according to their claims, at least 29 of the 38 ships they were convoying.

They told of their gallant captain, E. D. S. F. Fegan, an Irishman and at 45 a navy veteran, one of his arms almost shot away, leaping from bridge to bridge, as fast as they were pounded away beneath him, to shout his orders.

They told of how the crew, or what remained of it, refused to abandon the sinking, shattered ship until the British colors were tied to the top rigging so that they could still be seen even after the battered hulk had disappeared beneath the waters.

Showered With Shrapnel

And they charged that as they floundered about in lifeboats, the Nazi vessel filled the air above them with time-fused high explosive shells that burst overhead and showered them with hot shrapnel.

The Jervis Bay with its 14,164 tons outweighed the Nazi ship, believed to have been one of the 10,000 ton pocket battleships, the Admiral Scheer or Luetzow, but

BRITISH, GERMAN PLANES BATTLE IN DOVER AREA

DOVER, Eng., Nov. 13—A violent air battle between British Hurricanes and German Messerschmitts took place over a southeast coastal town today.

The clash followed a savage dive-bombing attack by a squadron of Nazi bombers.

The raiders pressed home their attack despite terrific anti-aircraft fire, swooping down in procession to drop their death-dealing cargoes.

Hurricane fighters racing in to intercept the attackers caught the last batch as they were climbing up after the attack.

Machine-gun fire filled the air and a terrific battle ensued as German reinforcements arrived. The planes dipped and circled over

WOMAN IGNORES WHISTLE OF TRAIN; INJURIES FATAL

PAINESVILLE, Nov. 13—Failing to heed a train whistle, according to witnesses today, Mrs. Belle Nash Leonard, 63, was killed and her automobile demolished in Mentor Township when a New York Central passenger train struck her at a crossing. Mrs. Leonard, driving alone, was returning to her home near Jefferson after visiting friends in Mentor.

European Bulletins

ZURICH—The French fleet has left the Mediterranean and is reported bound for French Indo-China following receipt of a new ultimatum from Thailand (Siam), the newspaper Gazette De Lausanne reported from Vichy today. Thailand has made previous territorial demands on Indo-China.

NEW YORK—Mackay Radio intercepted a broadcast from the steamer Empire Wind today stating it had been bombed and requesting immediate assistance. The message said the ship was in a sinking condition about 150 miles off the southwest coast of Ireland.

ST. JOHNS, N. F.,—Ninety-two survivors of four ships sunk by the shellfire of a Nazi raider have been landed at an unidentified Newfoundland port, it was announced today. The survivors spent 36 hours in wind-tossed lifeboats before they were picked up. One was suffering from a broken leg and he was removed to a hospital on arrival.

DETROIT—The Canadian government has completed plans to train pilots at privately owned airports in the United States and the first contingent of students is expected to cross the border at Detroit within the next few days, the Detroit Times said today in a dispatch from Ottawa.

SCHOOL HEADS TO AIR NATIONAL DEFENSE JOB

County School Superintendent George D. McDowell will attend a conference in Columbus, Thursday, to consider what action, if any, Pickaway County schools will take toward the national defense program.

The conference, to include school authorities from all parts of the state, will be held at 10 a. m. at the State Office building.

According to Works Progress Administration officials in Columbus the program will be set up through the local school authorities with an Advisory Board established consisting of representatives of industry, organized labor, public employment and WPA officials, who, with the advise of the local school authorities, will determine what persons will be trained and the type of training to be offered.

Churchill Cheered As He Gives Information To House Of Commons

LONDON, Nov. 13—A major victory for British naval planes over important units of the Italian fleet at Taranto which "affects decisively the balance of naval power in the Mediterranean" was described to the cheering House of Commons by Prime Minister Winston Churchill this afternoon.

He confirmed an admiralty announcement that at least six and possibly seven Italian warships were severely damaged in an attack by planes of the fleet air arm on the Taranto naval base.

LONDON, Nov. 13 — A stunning attack by the British navy's air arm dealt a "crippling blow" to the main units of the Italian naval fleet on the night of November 11-12, the British admiralty announced today.

A communique stated that at least six and possibly seven Italian warships were severely damaged at the Italian naval base of Taranto.

The announcement said that one Italian battleship of the Conte Dicavour class—a 25,000 ton ship with a complement of nearly 2,000 men, was seriously damaged and that a second ship of the same class appeared to have met a similar fate.

In addition, the British statement said, a battleship of the 35,000-ton Littorio class was hit and damaged so severely that her forecastle is under water.

Two Italian cruisers were left listing to starboard as a result of the British attack, the admiralty said, and two Italian fleet

DUCE'S LEGIONS IN HEAVY DRIVE ON GREEK UNITS

ATHENS, Nov. 13 — Italian forces, supported by artillery and bombing planes, have launched a heavy new attack against Greek troops surrounding the southern Albanian town of Koritza, strategic Italian military base, it was reported in Athens today.

Latest advices received here said that the Fascist forces were engaged in a desperate counter-drive designed to break the near strangle-hold that the Greeks have obtained on Koritza.

While results of this new fight were not yet known, other reports said the Greeks had consolidated their positions on the left and center fronts, and that earlier Italian attacks on the Macedonian Front had been repulsed.

In addition, it was stated, Greek

PRACTICE AT FIRE DRILL AIDS CINCINNATI FAMILY

CINCINNATI, Nov. 13—The family of Mrs. George Taylor, of near Montgomery, had often played "fire drill."

Yesterday when the Taylor home caught fire, Mrs. Taylor called "fire drill" and all seven of her children hustled out of the blazing home together.

Lack of water prevented firemen from saving the house although a barn was saved.

COUNTY SCHOOL TAXATION RATE ABOVE AVERAGE

Ohio State Expert Lists Comparative Figures For State

DISTRICT FIGURE 12.34

Harrison Township Enjoys Lowest With 7.80; New Holland Top

Pickaway County's average school tax rate is higher than the average rate of the state, Dr. Thomas C. Holy, of the Bureau of Educational Research, Ohio State University, has pointed out in his financial report of Ohio schools.

The average tax rate for Pickaway County schools is 12.34 mills, while the average for the state is 8.08 mills.

The report revealed, however, that the county's highest school tax rate, namely 16.50 for New Holland, is slightly below the highest school tax rate in the state, the highest rate being 18.58 mills, found in an exempted village.

The lowest school tax rate in the county is enjoyed by Harrison Township school with 7.80 mills and the next lowest by Circleville Township with 8.15 mills. Scioto Township and Ashville Village rank next to the top with rates of 16.20 and 16.10 respectively.

Ohio's highest school tax rate is more than five times as much as the lowest, according to Dr. Holy's report, the low being claimed by Hannibal school, Monroe County, with 3.30 mills.

Two Hundred Countians To Attend Farm Event

Nearly 200 Pickaway County farmers are expected to attend the 22nd annual convention of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, to be held in Columbus, November 28 and 29.

Official county representatives at the convention will be A. J. Dunkel, Walnut Township and T. M. Glick, Circleville Township. Alternates are Mrs. Herman Berger and Ira Fischer, both of Walnut Township.

Among the outstanding speakers for the occasion are Howard A. Cowden, president of the Consumers Cooperative Association, North Kansas City, Missouri; Mark A. Dawber, executive secretary of the Home Missions Council of the Methodist Church, New York City; I. H. Hull, general manager of the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association and President of National Cooperatives, Inc., Chicago; Larry Brandon, secretary and organization director of the Indiana Farm Bureau and Murray D. Lincoln, executive secetary of the Ohio organization.

During the day, sessions will be held at Memorial Hall, Columbus, while evening sessions will be held at the Columbus auditorium.

A 1,000 voice chorus, comprised of Farm Bureau members from all parts of the state, will provide special music for the evening programs.

The first day of the convention will feature the fifth annual conference of Ohio Farm Bureau youth. Several hundred young people are expected to attend the youth conference, which will be held at the Neil House and Memorial Hall.

Commenting on the work of the convention this year, Perry L. Green, president of the Federation said, "At this critical period in national and world affairs, organized agriculture is face to face with its biggest responsibility in history. Many important questions will come before us at this convention and we should have the largest attendance on record, with a determination on the part of all to contribute the utmost to a plan of constructive cooperative action for 1941."

REBELS AT 20 YEAR 'VISIT'

CAMDEN, N. J., — Five years after his marriage in 1919 his wife's parents came to visit them, William M. Young, of Paulsboro, testified in Camden Chancery Court. Fifteen years later, in January, 1936, Young decided the "visit" had lasted long enough, but when he demanded that his in-laws leave, his wife went with them. Young won a recommendation for a divorce.

TWO TEMBLORS STRIKE TERROR AT ROMANIANS

Bucharest Rocked During Night, Although Damage Is Reported Minor

RESCUE WORK RUSHED

Thousands Flee To Parks, Into Streets When City Shakes

BUCHAREST, Nov. 13 — Two new earth shocks rocked Bucharest during the darkness of the night bringing new terror in the wake of Romania's most devastating earthquake in more than a century.

The temblors, both of strong intensity, followed in quick succession and marked the ninth earth upheaval since the first disastrous shock on Sunday.

With the first deep rumblings thousands rushed wildly into the streets and parks in order to get clear of the damaged and cracked buildings.

Police soon restored order when it was learned that the damage from the new quakes was only slight.

With thousands homeless in devastated Romania, the new shocks came as government officials dispatched food, tents, and building materials to the wrecked villages and towns in the stricken areas.

Rescue work was still being pressed and government spokesmen reported that the complete death toll was unknown and that the total damage had not yet been estimated. It was indicated, however, that the toll would be less than the unofficial estimates of 2,000 dead.

In Bucharest, police published a list of residents of damaged apartments and homes and sent out an appeal to relatives of victims to help identify bodies which have been recovered thus far.

Strict measures have been taken to prevent looting in the capital. Police and soldiers have been authorized to shoot looters on sight.

Building experts have ordered several buildings in the heart of the city evacuated because of damage. Thousands of residents have been asked to leave their apartments and homes pending a complete check of the damaged structures by architects and engineers.

FICHTER TO SPEAK AT CLARKSBURG GATHERING

Joseph W. Fichter, Oxford, who holds the office of lecturer of the Ohio State Grange, will speak at the meeting of Clarksburg Grange at 7 p. m., Thursday, November 28, at the Grange Hall.

The occasion will be the celebration of the completion of the remodeling and redecoration of the Clarksburg Grange Hall, and Mr. Fichter will speak on the topic, "Agriculture in a Democracy."

This meeting was orignally scheduled for November 18, but has been changed to the above date.

Mr. Fichter is a member of the faculty at Miami University and was for several years the assistant State Director of Education in Ohio. He is a member of the White House Conference on Children in a Democracy, and recently participated in a round table discussion of taxation, sponsored by Fortune Magazine.

MOTHER DIES; EXPLOSION FATAL TO TWO IN FAMILY

McARTHUR, Nov. 13—Double funeral services were being planned today for Mrs. Carl McMillan, 45, and her six-year-old daughter, Norma Jean, who were burned to death as an explosion and fire destroyed the McMillan farm home at nearby Wilkesville.

Mrs. McMillan died last night in White Cross Hospital, Columbus. Norma Jean perished in the flames as kerosene being used to kindle a blaze exploded, spraying the child and her mother with liquid fire.

Mr. McMillan, 46, and his son, Homer, 18, remained in critical condition at Columbus. They were burned as they attempted to rescue the mother and her daughter. Another daughter, Mary Ruth, 16, suffered leg cuts as she kicked out a window and led two other children, Max, 14, and Dale, 10, to safety.

LONDON CLAIMS IL DUCE'S MAIN SHIPS DAMAGED

Taranto's Shore Defenses Ignored By Attacking Air Wing Of Navy

(The Italian base at Taranto, where the attack was carried out, is situated at the head of the Gulf of Taranto between the heel and toe of the Italian "boot.")

Communique Quoted

The admiralty's communique announcing the devastating attack, which put large units of the Italian fleet out of action, stated:

"The royal navy struck a crippling blow at the Italian navy. On the night of November 11-12, the fleet air arm carried out an attack the results of which have now been established by photographic reconnaissance.

"The main units of the Italian fleet were lying snugly behind their shore defenses at the main Italian base of Taranto.

"It is now known that one battleship of the Littorio class is so badly down by the bows that the forecastle is under water. She has a heavy list to starboard.

"One battleship of the Cavour class is beached with the stern, up to and including the after turret, under water. This ship is heavily listed to starboadd.

"It is not yet possible to establish the fact as a certainty, but it appears probable that a second battleship of the Cavour class also was severely damaged.

"In the inner harbor two cruisers are listed to starboard and surrounded with fuel oil. Two fleet auxiliary vessels are lying with their sterns under water.

Strength Reduced

"Total strength of the Italian battle fleet was six battleships, two of the Littorio class, which had just been serviced, and four of the recently constructed Cavour class.

"As a result of the determined and highly successful attack, it is probable that only three Italian battleships now remain effective."

The admiralty communique recalled that the Italian announcement yesterday admitted that one warship had been badly damaged. The British statement added:

"The Italian communique also claimed that six of our aircraft had been shot down and that three more probably had been destroyed.

"In point of fact, only two of our aircraft are missing. We have noted the enemy claim that part of the crews have been taken prisoner."

ROME, Nov. 13—Difficulties confronting Italy in naval warfare with Great Britain were stressed today by Virginio Gayda, Italian editor whose columns reflect the views of Premier Mussolini.

Gayda wrote that Italy at present is sustaining the main burden of an essentially naval phase of the war. He added:

"Italy's task is a difficult one in view of the enormous British forces in the Mediterranean."

LONDON, Nov. 13—Heavy British bombing attacks on military objectives in the Reich and in German-occupied territory were announced by the Air Ministry today.

During the night, it was stated, RAF bombers attacked oil plants at Gelsenkirchen and Cologne, the inland German port of Duisburg, railroad centers and factories in the Ruhr district and the German submarine base at Lorient.

Docks at Flushing, Holland, and Dunkerque in France also were bombed as were a number of German airdromes. One British plane was reported missing.

FAIRFIELDER, 23, ADMITS DEADLY DYNAMITE PLOT

LANCASTER, Nov. 13—Charges of possessing and using bombs or explosives with intent to kill were filed against John W. Stebelton, 23, Lancaster Route 6, Tuesday, after he had confessed to law officers that he had fired the barn on the Phil Huber farm, one mile south of Hamburg, early Monday.

Officers quoted Stebelton as saying he had set fire to the barn to "get even" with Miss Margaret Huber, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Huber, with whom he had been keeping company, and who had rejected his attentions Thursday night.

Stebelton, Deputy Sheriff Ed I. Moore and Fire Marshal W. D. Himes, said, blamed the girl's mother and her aunt, Mrs. Leonard Cole, Newark, for discouraging Miss Huber's romance with him, and said he intended to burn down the Huber barn and "blow up the Cole family" in Newark.

Stebelton admitted planting a stick of firewood loaded with dynamite in the woodpile of the yard at the Cole residence Sunday night.

LOSS OF LIFE IN GALE GROWS

Peterson was held fast off Hog Island, 12 miles west of Charlevoix, Mich. The 6,000-ton Conneaut was aground in shallow water on Lansing shoal in in the Straits of Mackinac, and the Billings was held in shallow water at Seul Chiox, Mich. The City of Flint was aground at Ludington.

Although the worst of the lake gales, which reached their height Monday and Tuesday, had passed, the wind still whipped up to better than 70 miles per hour occasionally.

But all the tragedy and suffering was not on the Great Lakes. The gales which roared down over the North Central states earlier in the week brought blinding snow and sleet storms with them, and left the most bitter cold of the season.

Many Hunters Lost

The death toll was heavy among duck hunters and others caught by the storm on lakes and streams in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Ten persons have been found dead in Iowa. In Illinois, at least 11 persons were known to have died.

Minnesota's death toll stood at 13 today, and the partial death toll in other states, resulting from injuries suffered in the high winds or from exposure, was Wisconsin, 7, Ohio 2, Michigan 5, Indiana 3, Montana 1, Nebraska 2.

Scores still were missing and it was feared many of those unaccounted for are dead.

No estimate of the property damage was possible, but it may approach several millions of dollars. Parts of the South, on the fringe of the gales and cold, suffered crop damages; in Montana, Nebraska and Iowa many flocks of turkeys being prepared for the Thanksgiving market were decimated.

Chicago Area Hit

Cities large and small in the Midwest felt the heavy hand of the gales. In Chicago, where the cyclone ripped in at 68 miles per hour on Monday, damage was placed above the $1,000,000 mark.

Freezing temperatures persisted wherever the storm had struck. Low readings included 12 below zero at Williston, N. D., eight below at Havre, Mont., three above at Sioux City, Ia., eight above at Chicago. In Canada, a low of 22 degrees below zero was reported at Medicine Hat, Alta., and 18 below at Edmonton.

Today the disturbance carried severe rainstorms to the New England coastal regions, and generally lower temperatures throughout the East.

Ashville, Phone 79

Besides the everyday regulars at headquarters yesterday were three preachers, two of them local, Revs. Winterhoff and Woodworth, and Rev. John Kilmer of Maple Grove Methodist Church, North Columbus, a former pastor here. And along with these were Squire John White of Fairfield County, Erroll Decker, Madison Township clerk and a new comer, a Mr. Jones at Marcy. A general review of the results of last week's election was the order with all pleased that we live in the U. S. of A.

BRITAIN'S NAVY PROVES HEROIC

was hardly a match in firing power.

Yet in the best British tradition, the Jervis Bay turned about, laid down a smoke screen enabling the 29 ships that escaped to scatter for safety, and met the Nazi raider with no quarter given and none asked.

Not until the Jervis Bay became a burning, shattered and untenable wreck did the suicide battle end. The survivors were finally picked up by a Swedish ship in the convoy whose captain turned his vessel back to the scene of the fight, likewise risking ships and men, to save the crew of the Jervis Bay.

The story of that battle which took place November 5 was told as follows by a senior surviving officer.

"It was late in the afternoon when we first sighted the warship on the port side at a distance, low on the horizon. It was sunny and there was quite good visibility.

Convoy Scattered

"A few minutes later we sighted her, she closed in and opened fire. The convoy was ordered to scatter and Capt. Fegan sent the Jervis Bay off toward the enemy.

"We turned away from the convoy at full speed and dropped a smokescreen between the convoy and the warship as we closed in.

"Early in the action we were struck and our steering gear was damaged but we were still under way and kept turning towards him.

"Early in the action the forward guns of the Jervis Bay were damaged by the shellfire to such an extent that it was impossible to fire them. The ship settled slowly in the water and began burning furiously but the crew, three fourths of them just out of training school, stuck to their posts amid smoke and flame and crashing shells.

"They were marvelous. These young naval lads just had a few months training when the war broke out but had never been to sea until then and this was their first time in action against an enemy warship.

"I was astonished. We knew about the old hands but it was the young hands who amazed me. They fought like veterans. No one shirked his duty."

The upper decks of the Jervis Bay were soon ablaze from salvo after salvo of Nazi shells. She soon began shipping water as hits were scored below the waterline. The Jervis Bay took a list and began to settle. Dead and dying lay about the decks, but, the officer asserted, the gallant crew carried on to the end.

Captain Wounded

Captain Fegan was on the bridge when the fight began and was seriously wounded early in the battle. One of his arms was almost shot away. A salvo tore away the forward bridge. He leaped to the after-bridge.

Then the after-bridge was shot away.

"We saw the captain walking back to what was left of the forward bridge again," the officer related. "It was our last sight of him."

"I think everybody aboard was proud as our ship turned to the enemy. Our captain knew just what we were going to get. But, it didn't matter."

Many of the Jervis Bay's boats were burned. But one lifeboat and four rafts were finally launched into the choppy sea.

The boat and rafts were continually shelled by the Nazi ship until they finally pulled out of firing range, according to the officer. Then the raider turned its attention to other vessels.

"It was a glorious fight," said Capt. Sven Olander of the Gothenburg, Sweden, which picked up the Jervis Bay survivors. "I'll never forget it. In my opinion, if it hadn't been for the crew of the Jervis Bay, they would have sunk the whole convoy."

Device Being Used

The Woodbridge plant had no defense contracts and was manufacturing signal torpedoes for railroads, but it was reported without confirmation that a device of possible use to the army and navy was being experimented on.

Hugh W. Kelly, owner of the signal company, said it was impossible for the torpedoes to explode under normal circumstances. He said there was a possibility saboteurs had the mistaken idea that the plant was working on government contracts.

planes again bombed the Albanian port of Valona, sinking three Italian cargo ships.

LONDON, Nov. 13—Italian detachments in the Pindus mountain sector of Greece are still retreating from Koritza, authoritative British military circles reported today.

These advices said the fleeing Italians were leaving a "certain amount" of prisoners and war equipment behind.

Reports received in London also confirmed that Greek troops are advancing toward the Kalamas River and have reached the town of Mazarakia.

ROLLER BEARING PLANT HAVING LABOR TROUBLE

CANTON, Nov. 13 — Several employes remained at their posts today in the roller bearing division of the Timken Roller Bearing Co., despite the report of Golden Lodge, 1123, SWOC, that the plant was shut down because of alleged refusal of the company to recognize the union.

WOC officials were reluctant to discuss the reasons for the reported shutdown. At the company's police headquarters it was said "we're having a little trouble here, but there are a few working."

The company employs about 6,000 and 4,000 work in the roller bearing division.

BRITISH, GERMAN PLANES BATTLE IN DOVER AREA

mid-channel as the RAF craft swept low over the cliffs to cut off the Germans from the French coast.

BERLIN, Nov. 13 — Dropping 200 tons of explosives that caused "numerous conflagrations," several hundred planes raided London during the night, it was announced in Berlin today.

An earlier Berlin statement claimed that Italian airmen shot down 10 British planes in combats over the south of England yesterday.

A German plane bombed and destroyed the railway viaduct at Horsham, the statement said, while other German bombers attacked and destroyed a power station at Brighton on England's south coast.

Officials said that German planes dropped 150 tons of explosives on London alone during yesterday's attacks.

POSSIBLE AID FOR OHIO POLIO SUFFERERS NEAR

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—Possible state aid to infantile paralysis sufferers may follow a nearly-complete survey of al pollo cases in Ohio, the divison of public assistance announced today.

Children under 18 years of age whose parents cannot afford adequate medical supervision will receive immediate assistance through the state's Crippled Children's bureau, it was stated, while adult victims lacking funds will be referred to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

More than 400 cases already have been studied, with only 136 cases in 20 northeatsern Ohio counties still to be investigated. The counties include Lorain, Cuyahoga, Wayne, Medina, Richland, Jefferson, Stark and Tuscarawas Counties.

was that it would be erroneous to underestimate importance of the visit simply because the usual glittering trappings of Nazi receptions were lacking. Some sources said it would be good tactics for Berlin and Moscow to keep the outside world guessing until projected plans are complete.

It was officially stated that Molotov and Goering had a "long talk in the spirit of friendly Russo-German relations." As commander-in-chief of the Nazi air force, it was said, Goering was in a prime position to inform Molotov of the actual status of this country's attempts to bring England to her knees.

It is a matter of utmost importance, it was said, that Molotov be given a full and comprehensive picture of the war for presentation to Stalin in order to counteract British propaganda alleging that Germany is in difficult straits.

In this connection, Goering is believed to have submitted evidence disproving British claims of heavy damage to German cities. Molotov was purposely brought into Berlin's Anhalter station, which Britain claims to have pulverized, to see for himself that no damage was done.

NATION'S PURSE MAY BE OPENED TO HELP BRITAIN

Some Congressmen Willing To Provide Aid Without Assurance Of Pay

MAY VOTE OUT ACT

Johnson Law Hitting Those Who Owe U. S. May Be Repealed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Proposals for loosening this nation's purse strings in its program of aid to Great Britain are gaining momentum in congress, a checkup of key members disclosed today.

Rep. May (D) Ky., chairman of the house military affairs committee, said he believed that the United States should "provide Great Britain with anything she wants, and if she can't pay, give it to her."

Rep. Shafer (R) Mich., a member of the committee, predicted that repeal of the Johnson Act, which bars loans to debt-defaulting nations is certain to be the next major step in a policy of aiding Great Britain.

"There is no doubt but that the people have expressed a desire to help Great Britain," Shafer said. "I think the people are sold on the idea of giving support and staying out of war. Repeal of the Johnson Act is certain to be the next step.

"I don't think there will be any great opposition to selling 'flying fortresses' and other big planes to Great Britain."

Rep. Snyder (D) Pa., chairman of the military appropriations subcommittee, said that aid to Great Britain will be stepped as a result of the election.

15 Built Each Month

"There will be multiplied aid," he said. "We are now producing 15 flying fortresses a month and under the new policy half go to Great Britain.

"From month to month there will be a step-up in supplying essential needs in the way of airplanes, munitions and foodstuffs for Great Britain.

"I think the people are 90 to 95 percent for aid to Britain short of war and that the election shows it. I'd like to see more planes provided Britain if it does not hazard our defense."

Rep. Eaton (R) N. J., a foreign affairs committee member, proposed repeal of the Johnson Act, neutrality act, or any other laws which hamper the country.

"In the present condition of the world all American must turn a united front toward the international situation, and I am confident that the American people realize that the safety of the Democratic way of life depends on the ability of Great Britain to hold out," he declared.

"Our best means of defense is to give Britain every assistance consistent with our immediate safety."

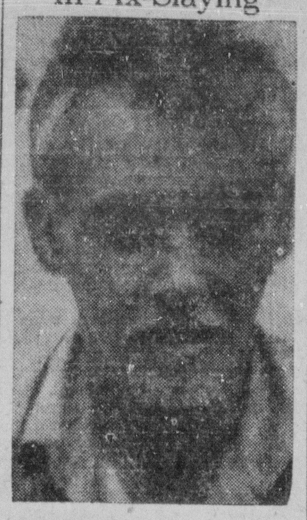

War Opposed

While many returning congressmen said the election forecasts more aid for Britain, they united in declaring that the people oppose war.

"My peace attitude was conducive to my reelection," said Rep. Ludlow (D) Ind. "I said that I would not vote to take the country into foreign war unless we are attacked. There is no lessening of peace sentiment in my district."

Ludlow is author of a proposed constitutional amendment requiring a referendum before an offensive foreign war can be declared.

FASCISTS ADMIT BOMB DAMAGES BY PLANE RAIDS

ROME, Nov. 13—Enemy bombing planes raided Italy's giant naval base at Taranto and pounded the key Adriatic port of Brindisi, the Fascist high command announced today.

The attack on the naval base, at the head of the Gulf of Taranto between the heel and the toe of the Italian boot, is the second to be carried out in 24 hours. Brindisi, located on the Straits of Ontranto, is one of the principal ports of embarkation for Fascist troop operations in Albania.

The high command reported that other enemy planes dropped bombs on the Fascist-held Albanian port of Durazzo and on Bari. The communique did not state whether the attack was carried out by British or Greek planes.

OIL BLAMED FOR BLAST AND FIRE AT OHIO PLANT

CANTON, Nov. 13—Overheated oil was blamed today by firemen for an explosion and fire which destroyed an 80,000-gallon tank of the Canton Refining Co.

Firemen were unable to estimate damage. They said that oil was being run through the tank, but had not entered a condenser which cools it before it mixes with the other oil.

The explosion tore off the top of the tank and started a raging fire which was not extinguished until 3:30 a. m.

Although 15 employes were at the plant at the time of the blast a check of hospitals revealed no one had been injured.

MARBLE FROM JERUSALEM

GETTYSBURG, Pa.,—The proposed $200,000 Gettysburg College chapel will use a three foot cube chunk of marble, cut from the Jerusalem quarries that produced stone for King Solomon's Temple some 3000 years ago, as a cornerstone. The rock was dispatched on the last boat to leave Jerusalem before Italy entered the war.

Ohio Politics May Be Quiet During Winter

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—Following a hectic campaign and election, political writers in Columbus today looked forward to a politically quiet winter and spring because of the re-election of Gov. John W. Bricker to a second term.

Barring unexpected developments, even the inauguration of the chief executive and the regular session of the General Assembly in January are not expected to provide enough news to wear out one ribbon on each typewriter in the press room.

At his first regular press conference since he overwhelmingly defeated former Gov. Martin L. Davey at the polls, Bricker told newspaper men that his second inauguration would be a "simple" one, and that he was looking forward to a "short" session of the legislature.

In 1939, Bricker's inauguration was an elaborate affair that lasted all day. He took his oath of office on the west front of the capitol before a huge crowd.

Tentative plans for the second inauguration call for a simple ceremony in the governor's office, with Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt, of the Ohio supreme court, administering the oath of office about noon, January 13.

No Changes Planned

No changes are contemplated by Bricker in his office personnel or various department heads. Don C. Power, Bricker's executive secretary, is to return to his duties following a leave of absence to conduct the GOP campaign in Ohio.

When the 94th General Assembly convenes in regular session January 6, the Republicans will have a slight majority in both the House of Representatives and the Senate. With the leadership in experienced hands, a short, smoothly operated and brief session is anticipated.

In the governor's opinion, only "routine" legislation is expected to be presented. The financial program for the 1941-42 biennium is being worked out on the basis of the one now in operation and is expected to be pushed through without much discussion.

With employment increasing as the result of defense orders, the relief problem is not expected to be serious next year. No additional old age pension legislation is expected in view of the fact that maximum payments were raised from $30 to $40 per month at the special session of the legislature last spring. The law becomes effective in January.

Republican leaders expect large cities to bring some pressure on the legislature for relief from financial problems that have been plaguing them for the past few years. Most large cities acquired huge debts taking care of needy persons while revenue from tax sources decreased.

Whittemore Returns

Little change is expected in the lineup of leadership in the legislature. Lieut. Gov. Paul Herbert, who was re-elected, will remain as president of the senate. State Senator Frank E. Whittemore, of Akron, majority floor leader and president pro tem in the 93rd General Assembly, is expected to retain his posts.

In the lower House, Rep. William M. McCulloch, of Piqua, speaker, and Harold Houston, of Urbana, speaker pro tem and majority leader were re-elected. They are favored to retain their posts in the next assembly.

However, there is a possibility, according to reports that Rep. William Deddens, of Cincinnati, may oppose Houston for his post. Deddens was defeated by Houston for the job when J. Harry McCregor resigned to go to Congress.

With their membership in both Houses increased, Democrats are expected to oppose administration-sponsored legislation with more vigor than was possible during the past two years, but they lack enough votes to halt anything except emergency bills if Republicans stick together.

All in all, it looks like political writers will catch up on their rest this winter.

TRIPLE PAY FOR CREW

BOSTON—A hastily manned crew of half a dozen nationalities manned the Greek freighter Alga E. Embiricos when it sailed from Boston carrying the last cargo of scrap iron from this port to Japan.

Sailing of the freighter was delayed a week when fifteen members of the crew refused to make the trip to Japan.

As a result agents of the line combed North Atlantic ports, finally recruited a crew in New York and Canada to make the trip. Triple pay was promised the men to man the vessel to Japan.

DARBY TWP. SCHOOL NEWS

Darby's boys have started into another season of basketball and have done very well so far, having been victors in two practice games; one against Fairfield and the other with Mt. Sterling. The team will go to Jackson for the first regular game on November 15.

The high school voted on cheerleaders in Assembly last Thursday and elected Bessie Phillips and Robert teele from a list of eight candidates. Helen Conley, a third cheerleader, was elected last year.

Rev. Robertson of the Mt. Sterling Christian Church was our speaker for Assembly held on Armistice Day. He gave an interesting talk on "What I Crave for Young America."

A rabbit supper will be sponsored by the P.-T. A. on November 19. The proceeds will go to the treasury of the local P.-T. A.

upt. George McDowell was a visitor in our school last Friday. He reports that the school is going along rather smoothly.

Thanksgiving vacation will include November 21 and 22 on which days school will be dismissed. On November 20 at 2 p. m. the elementary grades will give a Thanksgiving program.

The Juniors are wearing their new rings which they recently received.

BARRED TRADE ROUTES

THE wars of 1940 are undoing some of the work of Christopher Columbus, Marco Polo and other ancient discoverers and travelers. Those early seekers were not thinking about writing travel books or finding new worlds or setting up empires. In most cases they were after more direct trade routes to a region that had many things Europeans wanted very much. They were looking for quicker and safer lines along which could be brought the silks and spices and other treasures of the Orient.

The ancient desire to monopolize such trade opened up a whole new world. Today, a similar desire is closing the trade routes and bottling up in limited areas things wanted by people in every land. Poppy and caraway seeds used to come to us from Poland. Mustard seed came from Denmark. Paprika from Hungary, sage from Jugoslavia, bay leaves from Greece, thyme and other herbs from France, and coriander and paprika from North Africa used to be regular imports but are now either stopped entirely or greatly reduced. Cinnamon from the Far East and stuffed olives from Spain are destined to vanish from American pantry shelves or to become extremely costly.

Some of these things can be grown in other parts of the world and eventually may be obtained from new sources. Nevertheless, we need today explorers and discoverers in the realms of peace, economics and cooperation to reclaim the lost achievements of the Columbuses and Polos.

LEAF-BURNING INCENSE

THERE are several good reasons for not burning the autumn leaves in the streets. One is that the fire, carelessly allowed to flare up too high, may scorch and injure living trees. Another is that the preserved leaves could serve a useful purpose, keeping plants warm during the cold weather or making humus for the soil.

It was no such understandable reason as these that a fire chief gave against leaf-burning in one pleasant little town. They should not be burned, he said, because they created a disagreeable odor.

For every person who considers the odor of burning leaves unpleasant there must be dozens or scores who find it one of the delights of autumn. There's something about it suggestive of home and hearth, of nuts and apples, of frost outside and warmth within, of childhood fun and folk festivals. Even a fireman to whom fire is fire and smoke is smoke ought to have some thrilling boyhood memories of autumn twilights scented with burning leaves.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

FEUD BARS WILLKIE

WASHINGTON—Rumors that Wendell Willkie will be offered a cabinet post or chairmanship of the Defense Commission are just rumors and no more. Roosevelt has no intention of unifying along such lines.

After the 1936 campaign, the President and Alf Landon went out of their way to be friendly. The mellow Kansan called at the White House when he went to the Capital in December for a Gridiron Club dinner, and a year later Roosevelt appointed him a member of the U. S. delegation to the Pan-American conference in Lima. But with Willkie the situation is entirely different.

Roosevelt deeply dislikes and distrusts him—a feeling, incidentally, that is strongly reciprocated by Willkie.

Privately, the President believes that the GOP standard bearer's campaign was motivated chiefly by personal malice and went far out of the bounds of legitimate political warring in deliberate misrepresentation and distortion.

On his side, Willkie feels just as hotly regarding Roosevelt. When Rev. John Carruthers, visiting pastor of the Convent First Presbyterian Church, Washington, suggested making peace with Roosevelt, Willkie snapped, "I wouldn't think of it. You can't trust him. I refuse to have anything to do with him in any coalition cabinet."

NOTE: Even if Willkie would accept a job, Roosevelt has fought shy of creating a chairman of the Defense Commission. To all such suggestions he has replied that he was boss of the commission and intended to continue that way.

MERRY GO ROUND

The Roosevelt campaign wagon came to rest only after some bitter inside circle carnage. Two of the President's closest advisers, Harry Hopkins and Tom Corcoran, are at sword's points . . . Republicans are wondering whether there isn't something awfully significant about Tom Dewey's majority in up-state New York. It was more than 750,000 in 1938 while Willkie's up-state majority was only 94,000. This, coupled with the fact that Dewey did most of his campaigning for Willkie in the west—not in New York—makes some of the boys wonder whether the young District Attorney wasn't just as glad to have Willkie lose. After all, Willkie's defeat leaves Dewey with a far better chance to take the Republican nomination—and election—in 1944 . . . Friends are kidding Henry Wallace about being disqualified for the job of vice president because, unlike Jack Garner, he does not "strike a blow for liberty". After eight years in Washington, Wallace does not drink.

EUROPEAN APPEASEMENT

The story of imminent European peace deals which floated around London, Berlin and Washington just before election was no myth. Inside fact was that some very, very tentative ideas had been discussed by Sir Samuel Hoare, British Ambassador in

DIET AND HEALTH

Now It's Called the 'Broadway Stomach'

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● Dr. Joseph F. Montague has coined a new term "Broadway Stomach". He considers that to be the condition of the stomachs of the people who live on Broadway. Broadway, he hastens to add, is really a state of mind rather than a definite place. It means people who live fast and tough in the modern age. I should think that there would be a lot of "Broadway kidneys" and "Broadway livers," too.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The Broadway Stomach, as I understand it, is one which is subjected to "commuter's commotion", following the morning gulp known as breakfast; where the hurry, hurry of high pressure salesmanship is the prelude to lunch; where the blare of jazz is the accompaniment of dinner.

Broadway Stomach is a stomach with the jitters—jitters brought about by the high tension of life as it is lived in the year 1940.

Stomach Pretty Tough

There is undoubtedly a good deal to this, although I personally feel that the stomach is a pretty tough old party and will do a good deal more for us than we give it credit for. I have been hearing some talks lately about how terrible it is to cram two or three kinds of food into the stomach and I am not sure that I don't think this comes under the heading of "scare the tar out of 'em" form of propaganda, of which we have had too much in the past. I do agree, however, that worry, haste and fretfulness should be dismissed from the diningroom and I can subscribe to some of Doctor Montague's maxims, particularly the following:

"Throughout the day, eat small, light meals. Have your largest meal at the end of the day when free of business worries.

"Don't eat when you are very tired. Take a short rest right before dinner.

"Try to take some nourishment in the middle of the forenoon and some in the middle of the afternoon. In the forenoon, a glass of milk is suggested; in the afternoon, a cup of tea.

Avoid Soft Foods

"Avoid eating soft foods that require no chewing. If you do take them, eat some toast at the same time so that you will have to do some chewing.

"Occasionally skip a meal or, if possible, fast an entire day.

"Make your meals a pleasant occasion. Park your troubles at the office.

"Don't fall for diet fads. They are often unscientific and may not be suited to your particular needs."

The book Broadway Stomach, by Dr. Joseph F. Montague, is published by Simon and Schuster.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. C. P.:—"What fruits and vegetables have no sugar in them, or, which contain the least sugar?"

Answer—I know of no fruits that do not contain sugar and no vegetables that do not contain starch. (The distinction between fruits and vegetables is difficult of definition—a tomato is strictly a fruit although we ordinarily call it a vegetable.) The fruits which contain the least sugar are grapefruit (5%), oranges (10%), peaches (10%), pineapple (10%) and watermelon (10%). Vegetables with the lowest starch (5%) are lettuce, spinach, string beans, asparagus, cucumbers, tomatoes, eggplant, cabbage, broccoli, vegetable marrow.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

The purchase of the Justus hotel, Western Avenue and Main Street, from Mrs. Hattie E. Justus, widow of Pete Justus, and other heirs, was announced by Edward Helwagen, North Court Street.

Mrs. George H. Adkins was elected worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star to succeed Mrs. E. I. Gephart who had removed to Ashtabula.

Dr. H. R. Clarke, local weather recorder, predicted a mild winter, at least until the first of the year, basing his prediction on comparison of other winters following mild autumn seasons.

10 YEARS AGO

Forty-five men attended the first meeting of the Presbyterian Men's Club held at the church with Col. C. E. Groce presiding, when Howard Orr, Milton Friedman, D. Adrian Yates and Dr. H. D. Jackson participated in an Armistice Day program.

Mrs. William B. Cady was chosen worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star at the annual election of officers.

Mrs. Mary G. Morris, county recorder, was reported in excellent condition following an operation performed at Berger Hospital by Dr. Andre Crotti.

25 YEARS AGO

Mayor E. C. Friece rented a room in the Helwagen block, corner of East Main and Washington Streets, planning to open a grocery.

State wide prohibition was defeated by a majority of 55,412, it was shown by the official returns from every county.

Very few if any turkeys were to be served to the 22,000 and more wards of the state on Thanksgiving day, the price being too high.

HENRY FORD is entitled to most of the credit for taking the initiative in the development of Brazil as a source of rubber supplies for our own country, which will need huge quantities of the crude stuff from there if Japan gobbles Malaya and the Dutch East Indies. It is from there that we get most of it now.

To be sure, congress recently appropriated $500,000 to finance the agriculture department in sending rubber specialists to the South American republic to encourage gum tree planting and the collection of the much-desired goo that they exude when tapped, just as maple trees leak sap here at home.

As a matter of fact, rubber trees grow wild up the Amazon, but the cultivated ones are more productive.

The department's representatives already are on their way. However, the mission is extremely belated. It also will take a lot more than $500,000 to make a success of the enterprise.

Henry Ford had the inspiration away ahead of congress and the agriculture department. It's been known for a good many years that the upper Amazon region is a rubber country. Long before the last World war attempts were made to exploit it as such. In those days, though, there wasn't the demand for rubber that exists at present. Furthermore the gum has to be brought down the Amazon and there weren't the river boats to attend the job. Consequently the early prospectors ultimately gave up in despair.

FORD PIONEERS

It was a short while after the 1914-18 conflict when Henry Ford's representatives arrived on the scene. On my way up the coast from Buenos Aires I stopped at the Brazilian port of Para or Belem (it's known by two names), at the Amazon's mouth, and met several of them there. They were going upstream soon, to stake out a plantation according to the terms of a concession Henry had obtained from the government at Rio de Janeiro.

It's slow work chewing out a plantation in that equatorial jungle and it took Henry quite an interval to get his tame rubber trees a-growing. I understand it will be a couple of years yet before they'll be oozing gum satisfactorily. But they say he has 3,000,000 trees.

Anyway, Ford has some forethough. He's miles ahead of congress and the agriculture department.

The other day the Metals Reserve corporation (a subsidiary of the RFC) closed a deal to get a large part of Bolivia's tin ore for the United States, tin ore being another commodity that we require but can't produce domestically.

Tin, of course, doesn't have to be cultivated, like tame rubber trees. It simply has to be dug up and that doesn't take as long a time as it takes trees to grow. The only drawback to the tin dicker is that we haven't the smelters to treat the raw ore. Heretofore England has taken most of Bolivia's tin ore, the English have smelted it and we've bought the smelted product from them. It seems ridiculous that we haven't provided our own smelting facilities, enabling us to take the ore direct. It's the case, nevertheless. It's queer that Henry Ford didn't think of tin at the same time he thought of rubber. But he didn't, though I'd imagine he'd need tin in his business, too.

ALL-WATER ROUTE

One item in rubber's favor is that the gum can be brought right out of the jungle to the edge of the Amazon, floated down to the Atlantic and brought up the coast by water to the United States—liquid transportation all the way.

Bolivia, on the other hand, has to ship its tin ore overland to tidewater, via Peru, Chile, or the almost impossible distance across Brazil for Bolivia's as inland a country as Switzerland. And overland transportation's pretty primitive in that part of South America.

True, if Brazilian rubber's to be brought down the Amazon, there'll have to be boats on the big river to carry it. The lack of them is what crabbed the game the other time.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

THERE WAS a little spot in the pit of Kit's stomach that was heavy while she waited for Jerry to go on after his meaningful speech about taking over the program because of her. She didn't doubt it, although she protested that she had; but she did doubt his motive and for the moment she was afraid of him.

Jerry was speaking. "I did it because I wanted to plan great things for you, Kit."

She was ashamed of her doubt. She said, "How many songs do you think I can sing this season, Jerry? I was originally to do three on each program. Then I was cut to two."

"In time. Have I told you tonight that I'm crazy about you?"

She said, "Please, Jerry."

"I am. I've been crazy about you ever since I saw you at the auditions. I started planning things then. You needn't ever worry about my letting you down."

"I didn't," she said, her surprise genuine.

"I wouldn't let them drop your contract," he went on, speaking his thoughts aloud. "If I'm going to run that program, I'm going to do it my own way, I told them."

Kit felt weak all over. What was Jerry saying? She was afraid to know, and yet she had to.

"Jerry, please explain what you mean about, them, wanting to drop my contract."

"Who said anything about anybody wanting to drop it? I've got the renewal in my pocket right now. Put your signature on it and that'll be that. We'll get the waiters to witness it."

Jerry flashed in his pocket for the contract, removing, first, a cigaret case, a wallet and several envelopes.

"It's legal enough now," he said, when the waiters had added their signatures.

She was safe for thirteen more weeks. She said, "How many songs do you think I can sing this season, Jerry? I was originally to do three on each program. Then I was cut to two."

"In time. Have I told you tonight that I'm crazy about you?"

She said, "Please, Jerry."

Jerry flashed in his pocket for the contract, removing, first, a cigaret case, a wallet and several envelopes.

Dear Lord, please make him have it, Kit prayed silently.

Jerry had it. Kit read it hastily with hot eyes. "Are you sure it is legal to do it this way?" she asked, trailing her signature across the dotted line

14 Girl Scouts Conduct Ceremony for Sorority

Annual Dance To Be Conducted November 20

Fourteen Girl Scout of Troop 4 with Miss Ruth Stout as leader presented the "Pageant of the Flags" before members of Phi Beta Psi Sorority Tuesday at the regular meeting of the chapter at the home of Miss Pauline Hill, Park Place.

The pageant, which is a dramatization of information concerning the American Flag and includes facts about flags of other nations, was effectively presented, the program closing with group singing of "God Bless America". Mrs. Delos Marcy played the piano accompaniment. Miss Helen Liston of the sorority was heard in an interesting reading on the flag.

Mrs. Frank Marion, president, led the business session when plans were developed for the annual Thanksgiving Dance.

This annual affair sponsored by the sorority will be Wednesday, November 20, in Memorial Hall auditorium with the Masqueraders, a Columbus dance band, playing for the dancing from 10 until 1. The orchestra under the direction of Max Toolil has been heard in Circleville several times.

Mrs. Delos Marcy is general chairman; Miss Peggy Parks, advertising chairman; Mrs. David Goldschmidt, invitations; Miss Hill and Miss Liston, orchestra; Miss Wilmina Phebus and Miss Elizabeth Tolbert, hall decorations.

The proceeds from the dance will be used during the winter in the charitable work of the sorority.

Mrs. Marion announced that the chapter has secured rooms in Masonic Temple 115½ South Court Street, and will meet there in the future.

A covered dish lunch will precede the meeting of November 26 in the club rooms.

Eastern Star

Mrs. F. K. Blair was elected worthy matron of Circleville Chapter No. 90, Order of the Eastern Star, at the regular meeting Tuesday in the chapter room, Masonic Temple. Her associate will be W. Earl Hilyard who will serve as worthy patron for the coming year.

Other officers chosen to serve with Mrs. Blair include Mrs. T. R. Acord, associate matron; George Welker, associate patron; Mrs. E. L. Price, secretary; Mrs. W. B. Cady, treasurer; Mrs. Cecil Noecker, conductress; Mrs. George Valentine, associate conductress. Mrs. E. S. Neuding was reelected trustee for the next three years. The remaining offices will be filled by appointees of Mrs. Blair.

The meeting opened in regular form. During the business hour, the report of the auditing committee was read by the secretary.

The members listened with interest to the splendid report of the Grand Chapter sessions recently held in Cleveland presented by Miss Bertha Valentine, worthy matron for 1940. She announced that Mrs. Lela Pontius of Adelphi had been appointed Deputy Grand Matron of the Twenty-third District for 1941.

Plans for the annual installation of officers will be announced at a later date.

Benevolent Association

The November meeting of the Circleville Benevolent Association was devoted to discussion of plans for Christmas work when the members met Tuesday in the city cottage.

Miss Clara P. Southward, social worker, submitted her report for October.

Seventy-thee visits were made in homes of applicants and 26 visits in their behalf; office interviews with applicants numbered 212, other interviews, 52.

Donations of clothing and other things were received from 25 individuals and two organizations. Supplies were given to 110 families. These included 61 pairs of shoes, 33 hats and caps, 13 coats for women and girls, five coats for men, two men's suits, 22 sweaters, 110 dresses, 294 other garments and 310 miscellaneous articles such as dishes, knives, forks, spoons, curtains, bedding, two small rugs, towels, mirror, comb, handbags, coat hangers, irons, lamp shades, light bulbs, quilt patches and a trunk.

Surplus food from two church suppers was shared by twelve families.

Twelve families were on the milk list during the month.

Miss Southward said that there is need for more bedding, and clothing, especially shoes, also a very great need for decent houses of three or four rooms, at a reasonable rent.

Circle 4, W.S.C.S.

The second meeting of Circle 4 of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist Church was Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Sprouse, East Main Street. Mrs. Malcolm Parrett, chairman of the circle, led the group in the opening devotional singing and prayer. Mrs. Ned Harden, secretary, reported. Several standing committees were announced.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to 23 members and several guests including Mrs. Dale Ankrom, Mrs. Harold Pontius, Mrs. H. H. Harvey and Mrs. Francis Donohoe.

Mrs. Harley B. Colwell of North Court Street will entertain the circle at the next meeting Tuesday, December 2.

Christ Luther League

An interesting meeting of the Luther League of Christ Lutheran Church was held Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah List, Muhlenberg Township, with 23 members and guests attending.

Miss Helen M. Kern, president, conducted the business meeting, Mrs. Lyle Davis reading the topic, "Develop Resources."

The program of Thanksgiving readings included "He Crowneth the Year with His Goodness", Harry Barthelmas; "The Landing of the Pilgrims", James Hulse; "The Thanksgiving Turkey", Maynard Hulse; group singing of Thanksgiving hymns.

Seasonable refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The group will meet next at the home of Loring, Maynard and Doris Hulse of Jackson Township.

You-Go-I-Go Club

Nine members and one guest enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. S. B. Chambers, East Mound Street, when she entertained the You-Go-I-Go Club Tuesday at her home.

Refreshments concluded the afternoon passed in sewing and visiting.

Plans for the next meeting Tuesday, December 10, include the annual Christmas party and covered dish lunch at the home of Miss Daisy Murray, East High Street.

Mrs. Gordon Hostess

Mrs. Jay Clark, Mrs. Tom Burke and Mrs. Winifred Wallace were guests Tuesday when Mrs. Ben Gordon was hostess to members of her bridge club at her home on Northridge Road.

A salad course was served at the card tables after several rounds of contract bridge. Miss Eleanor Ryan and Miss Evelyn Snider carried home the favors for scores.

Miss Ryan will entertain in the club in two weeks.

Westminster Class Party

About 45 members and guests gathered in the social room of the Presbyterian Church Tuesday for the cooperative dinner when the Westminster Bible Class entertained the Presby-Weds.

A travel talk by Miss Lucille Neuding was the featured entertainment.

Miss Neuding showed color motion pictures taken during her summer trip through the West, presenting an informal running comment on the scenes shown. Excellent films taken in Bryce and Zion Canyons, the Grand Canyon, Colorado Springs, Yosemite National Park and other places interesting in California were shown in addition to many taken in the Lake Louise and Banff regions of Canada.

Miss Neuding spoke of the contrast in coloring and rock formation of the various scenes in the West and in conclusion showed some beautiful views of the hills around Chillicothe.

Vases of garden chrysanthemums centered the two long tables where the guests were seated for the dinner hour.

Mrs. Glenn I. Nickerson, president of the Westminster Class, welcomed the guests and opened the brief business session. Mrs. B. T. Hedges, secretary, reported.

Franklin Crites, president of the Presby-Weds, spoke briefly.

Members of the hospitality committee included Miss Florence Dunton, Miss Mary Heffner, Mrs. G. G. Campbell, Mrs. Will Mack and Miss Winifred Parrett.

Y. T. C. Meets

The Youths' Temperance Council met Tuesday at the home of Miss Ruth Gard, a business session following the devotional opening period.

Several readings by the members were included in the program.

A social hour was concluded with refreshments served by the committee.

Star Grange

Five candidates were elected to receive degrees when Star Grange met in regular session Tuesday at Monroe School. C. M. Reid, worthy master, opened the grange in regular form and presided during the election of candidates including the Misses Vivian Ankrom, Betty Gordon, Margaret Patterson, C. P. Corkwell and Ernest Ankrom.

Two proposals for membership were read.

The annual election of officers resulted in C. M. Reid being reelected worthy master; C. D. Hosler, overseer; Mrs. Herman Porter, lecturer; Lawrence Phillips, steward; Francis Furniss, assistant steward; Mrs. Lyle Davis, chaplain; Byron Stoer, treasurer; C. E. Dick, secretary; Earl Fisher, gate keeper; Mrs. Harvey Brigner, Ceres; Mrs. James Wills, Pomona; Miss Laura Long, Flora; Mrs. Marie Walters, lady assistant steward, and Miss Glendal Dick, pianist.

Child Conservation League

"Art Guidance" will be discussed by Mrs. W. Emerson Downing Tuesday before members of the Child Conservation League when they meet at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. E. Groom, Park Place. Mrs. Downing is supervisor of art of the Circleville Schools.

* * *

Mrs. Hedges Hostess

Mrs. William Gray, Guilford Road, was a guest player Tuesday when Mrs. Robert Hedges of Seyfert Avenue entertained her bridge club at her home.

Two tables of contract bridge were in play with Mrs. Joe Burns winning the high score award.

Lunch served at the card tables concluded the affair.

Mrs. Gray, who has substituted several times at the club, invited the group to her home for the next meeting.

* * *

D. A. R. to Meet

The anniversary meeting of Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be at 6 p. m. Tuesday, November 19, at the home of Mrs. Clark K. Hunsicker, West Union Street. Mrs. Hunsicker is organizing regent of the chapter and annually entertains the members at the anniversary session.

The program will be devoted to "National Defense" with a speaker from Fort Hayes, Columbus.

It is requested that members take table service for the cooperative dinner which will precede the program.

Miss Elsie Jewell, Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, Mrs. James P. Moffitt, Mrs. Ned Bell, Mrs. Walter Kindler, Mrs. Paul A. Johnson and Mrs. Harry Sohn will be assisting hostesses.

WRITERS HONOR CHAMPS' STAR

Frank McCormick Decided To Be Most Valued In National Loop

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 — Frank McCormick, big first baseman of the world champion Cincinnati Reds, was the most valuable played in the National League this last season.

If you doubt it, you must quarrel with the committee of veterans of the Baseball Writers Association who today voted the annual award to the big fellow from Manhattan College. He thus takes his place with Hank Greenberg, Detroit outfielder, who won a similar award in the American League.

It is interesting to note that Frank was voted more valuable than Johnny Mize, slugging first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, although Johnny hit .310 to Frank's .309 and drove in 136 runs to Frank's 127.

The writers apparently figured that Frank's superior fielding and greater speed on the bases more than offset the slight difference in their hitting.

In any event, Frank received 274 points in the voting to Johnny's 209. In third place came Bucky Walters with 146 points and Paul Derringer with 121 was fourth. These two Cincinnati right handers ran one-two last year.

It also is interesting to note that McCormick is the third Red to win the award in successive years, Ernie Lombardi and Walters having preceded him the last two years.

Fred Fitzsimmons, the old knuckle ball artist, who racked up 16 victories against two defeats for the Brooklyn Dodgers, drew fifth place with 84 points. And back of the old timer came another Dodger, Outfielder Dixie Walker, who came through with 71 points.

SATURDAY HIGH SCHOOL DAY AT OHIO WESLEYAN

DELAWARE, Nov. 13 — Saturday is High School Day at Ohio Wesleyan University. Hundreds of students from all parts of the state are expected to visit the campus and see the Ohio Wesleyan-Youngstown College football game as guests of the Century Club. Any high school student can obtain a complimentary ticket by calling at the Student Office in Edgar Hall between noon and two o'clock.

PANTHERS PRIMED

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13 — The University of Pittsburgh Panthers were being primed today for their 15th meeting Saturday with the Cornhuskers of Nebraska. Coach Charley Bowser had his boys scrimmaging yesterday and indications were that Pitt would have all first-string men in good shape for the fray. The game is expected to draw 30,000 fans to Pitt stadium.

FOUR IRISH INJURED

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 13—A number of injured men were spared heavy work today at Notre Dame's workout for the Iowa game, but the squad is expected to be near full strength by game time Saturday. Among those nursing various injuries are Capt. Milt Piepul, fullback; Bob Dove, end; Tom Gallagher, tackle and Bob Osterman, center.

New Deal For Players Planned At Cleveland

By Gerald Healey

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13—Roger Peckinpaugh took over the hottest spot in Major League baseball today—the spot marked X recently vacated by harassed Oscar Vitt—and began making plans to mold a 1941 pennant winner out of the Cleveland Indians.

Part of Peckinpaugh's plans call for a "new deal" for the players, and, he said:

"So far as I'm concerned last season never happened. We'll start fresh in 1941."

Despite a mediocre regime as manager of the Tribe from 1928 to June, 1933, "Peck" is regarded by close baseball followers as fundamentally a sound manager. The fans are satisfied that when he piloted the Indians before he just didn't have the material.

He probably never will be as popular with the fans as was Vitt, who, despite the riding he was given by his disgruntled players last season, was the object of loud cheers the few times he stuck his nose out of the dugout.

Contract For $12,000

But if "Peck" can produce a team that will cop the American League flag he can just about write his own ticket with the fans and the ownership when his two-year contract expires. No mention has been made officially of his salary, but it was believed to be in the neighborhood of $12,000 a year.

Unlike the effervescent Vitt, who was continually being caught off guard by newsmen and saying things about players—his own included—that he later regretted, Peckingpaugh is the calm, retiring type who lets his actions speak for him.

A native Clevelander, "Peck" is 50 years old, a fairly ripe old age to start a comeback, but he believes he can wrap up the bunting and the club directors believe in him, too. He inherits probably the best-balanced pitching staff in the American League, a keystone combination of Lou Boudreau at short and Ray Mack at second base that was a first year sensation.

If President Alva Bradley loosens the purse strings enough to buy "Peck" one or two heavy-hitting outfielders the Indians should be in the thick of the flag chase from opening day.

Bradley always has contended the public and not the owners fired "Peck" in 1933 and he and the directors are confident that with good material now Roger is due for success.

GILMAN REPORTS ILLINI TO TEST BUCKEYE SQUAD

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—Take it from no less an authority than Sid Gilman, assistant coach at Ohio State University and former all-America end, the Ohio State Buckeye engagement with Bob Zuppke's Illinois team at Champaign, Ill., Saturday afternoon is not going to be a push over for the Scarlet and Gray.

"Illinois is dangerous," Gilman states, "and our team is naturally going to be taking it 'easy' with the Michigan game coming up a week from now. Our only hope is for them to snap out of it and take seriously Zuppke's promise to win one big game."

Despite losses in five of six starts this season, the Illini has shown promies of greatness at times. Last Saturday, Zuppke almost pulled his yearly plum from the pie when his team forced Northwestern into a 19-point closing quarter rally before the Wildcats won, 32-14.

The important item for the Ohio Staters to note is the 14 points the Illinois team was able to score against that vaunted Wildcat defense. The Buckeyes couldn't ram a touchdown across against the Northwestern team and went down in a 6-3 defeat.

One factor in favor of the Buckeyes this time will be a two-week rest period which brought the team to full strength for the first time all season. The once-heralded "Terrible Trio" of Don Scott, Jim Strausbaugh and Capt. Jim Langhurst will be ready to ramble behind Tom Kinkade's blocking.

Strausbaugh hasn't been in shape to go at top speed all season, having suffered a badly twisted ankle a week before the season opened. If the rugged halfback is able to go at top speed in the final two games—that Michigan-Ohio State battle on Nov. 23 will be a thriller.

The Bucks will entrain for Champaign Thursday night.

Bishop Seniors

THESE four varsity regulars will play their last home game for the Battling Bishops of Ohio Wesleyan against Youngstown College in Selby Stadium, Delaware, Saturday. They are, top row: John Zimmerman, Dennison, end; and Ralph Monroe, Sidney, the most consistent ground-gainer on the team. Second row: Don Grigsby, hard-driving blocking back from Youngstown; and Captain Ray Rebol, one of the best tackles in the state.

HARMON WILL BE READY TO FACE WILDCAT OUTFIT

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 13—Although suffering from leg muscle bruises, All American Tom Harmon will be in shape for Saturday's Michigan-Northwestern tussle, Coach Fritz Crisler, of Michigan, said today.

Harmon has spent the last two nights in a hospital for treatment.

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 13—Their practices so far this week hampered by inclement weather, Northwestern's Wildcats hoped for a break from the weatherman today to permit a full-scale workout in preparation for the clash with Michigan Saturday. The team has no indoor inclosure and so has had only short session in this week's extreme cold.

THOMAS, WALKER DRAW IN FAST COLUMBUS CONTEST

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—Columbus fight fans were talking a rematch today between Otis Thomas, Chicago Negro heavyweight, and Buddy Walker, dusky Columbus battler who wears the Ohio heavy crown, who ended up even after ten rounds of furious infighting.

Referee Matt Brock of Cleveland awarded three rounds to each battler. It was the second draw in 31 fights for the still undefeated Walker. In April Patsy Perroni, of Canton, placed the only other blot on Walker's escutcheon.

NAVY'S GEBERT HURT

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 13 — Wes Gebert, Navy back who made the Middies only touchdown against Notre Dame last week, will be unable to play against Columbia Saturday because of injuries.

BLACK TO BEGIN HUNT FOR CAGE TEAM STARTERS

Staley Only Member Of Last Year's Quintet Back In Action

SCHEDULE TOUGH ONE

Intramural Loop To Bar Juniors And Seniors This Year

Faced with the task of building an entirely new cage varsity from material that performed with the reserve squad last year, Tiger Coach Roy Black called his basketball hopefuls to report next Monday evening for the initial drill. Joe Staley, only member of last year's first five returning for action, has a bad ankle that may slow down his basketball endeavors, the injury being received early in the football season.

Not only will Coach Black be working with youngsters green as far as varsity experience is concerned, but he will be forming his athletes into a team that will be playing the toughest schedule a Circleville quintet has tackled in many years. Opening December 3 against Washington Township's rangy veterans, the Tigers will meet Greenfield, Chillicothe, New Lebanon, Lancaster, Hillboro and Columbus North before the holidays. After the vacation will come Wilmington, Grove City, Washington C. H., Amanda's district titlists, Ashville, Wilmington, Oak Hill, Jackson and Upper Arlington.

The team will engage again in the South Central Ohio League against Greenfield, Hillsboro, Washington C. H. and Wilmington, playing each team twice.

Four Veterans Gone

Gone from last year's battling varsity will be Harold Smith, Whitey Davis, Paul Walters and Bob Bowshier. Returning lettermen in addition to Staley will be Jim Callihan and Clark Martin. Other boys with a little varsity experience last year include Don Valentine, Jim Carr and Frank Geib. Other members of the reserve squad who will be battling for varsity squad positions will be Leland Siegwald, James Moorehead, Bob Moon, Virgil Wolf, John Woods, Gerald Ayers, Carl Eby, Harry Clifton, Norman Anderson, Richard Brintlinger, Dudley Smallwood, Robert Kline, Nolan Sims and Paul Jackson, among others who may report.

The school's intramural league this year will include seventh and eighth graders, with juniors and seniors who are not good enough for the varsity squad to be barred. Coach Black feels that this system is the best for developing cage material. The intramural season will get under way shortly.

CIRCLEVILLE CHRISTMAS SEASON TO OPEN SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23

PARADE TO BE STAGED DURING INITIAL EVENT

Chamber Of Commerce To Sponsor Decorations In Business Area

PUMPKIN SHOW TALKED

Treasurer Says Society May Not Suffer Financially; Attendance Discussed

Christmas season for Circleville will open one week from Saturday, November 23.

The date was set by retail merchants at the Chamber of Commerce meeting in the American Hotel Hurricane Tuesday evening, after they had discussed the merits of opening the season early.

Reversing their decision of the last meeting, Chamber members voted to sponsor again a Christmas parade as the opening day feature. At their previous meeting they had planned to discontinue the parade this year because of the added expense, but after Tuesday night's discussion they decided a parade would bring more people to Circleville on the opening day to warrant the added expense.

They set $100 as the maximum amount to be used for parade expenses this year, and President Irvin Kinsey appointed Dan McClain, James Yost and Harold Limbach as a parade committee. Mr. McClain, chairman of the Pumpkin Show parade committee, told Chamber members he believed several of the county school bands, which played in Circleville during the Pumpkin Show, could be obtained. The committee will begin immediately to make further plans for the event.

Decorations planned

Approximate cost for Christmas decorations this year will be about $375, Karl Mason, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee, estimated, last year's type of decoration again being used with slight modifications.

Eighty-five Christmas trees will be erected along Court and Main Streets, with the decoration at Court and Main Streets again being used. Merchants hope the decorations can be erected by next Saturday.

Mrs. Winifred Wallace has been employed by the Chamber to do the solicitation this year. She is expected to begin her drive for funds within the next few days.

Pumpkin Show finances may not show a deficit this year, Robert Colville, treasurer of the Society, told Chamber members. Several departments have not yet turned in their expense accounts, however, and it is impossible to determine accurately the financial standing of the Society. Mack Parrett, secretary, said the Show this year cost approximately $7,500, of which $2,257.30 was spent for premiums, $109 for judges and the rest for labor and miscellaneous expenses.

Total amount taken in this year amounted to $5,680, Secretary Parrett pointed out. Of this amount $3,830 came from concessions, $1,400 from donations and $450 for rides and shows. An additional $1,300 is assured from the state Department of Agriculture, Secretary Parrett said, the appropriation being obtained through the Pickaway County Agricultural Society.

Decree Damaging?

The non-gambling order, issued prior to the opening of this year's show, was cited by Pumpkin Show directors as one of the causes for poor attendance this year. Bingo games at past shows brought additional people to the Show and boosted the Show's receipts, they said.

Bad weather, military registration on the opening day of the show, mobilization of the National Guard, and the Infantile paralysis scare were among other items cited as contributing to a reduced attendance and consequently to a deflated income. Not one of the concessions at the Show this year made money, Secretary Parrett said.

The 25 4-H club members who participated in the fat stock sale will be guests at a Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting early in December. The dinner will follow the return of the three livestock show winners from the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, November 30 to December 7. The winners, Phillip Reichelderfer, Washington Township, possessor of the grand champion steer, Harold Hoover, Duvall, the prize Shorthorn steer, and Robert Young, Harrison Township, the prize Hereford steer, will be invited to speak at the meeting.

Plane Crosses U. S. for New Record

PICTURED in flight is the new Lockheed-Lodestar monoplane in which G. T. Baker, National Air Lines president, streaked across the country from Burbank, Calif., to Jacksonville, Fla., in 9 hours, 29 minutes, 39½ seconds elapsed time. Baker made one refueling stop, at Dallas, Tex., during the 2,357-mile flight. The previous transcontinental record was set by Howard Hughes in 1938, 2,478 miles in 10 hours, 34 minutes.

DEFEATED PAULDING MAN SEEKS BALLOT RECOUNT

PAULDING, Nov. 13—Henry Green, only Republican candidate defeated in Paulding County's election last Tuesday, today filed $190 with the county board of elections for a recount of 19 of the district's 31 precincts. Green was defeated, according to the unofficial vote total, by Daniel Stoffer, Democrat, for county engineer by a 20-vote margin.

ROSS COUNTY BALLOTS KEPT; RECOUNT HINTED

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 13—O. O. Overly, chairman of the Ross County Board of Elections, announced Wednesday that the 24,795 ballots cast in the county on election day had been impounded at the First National Bank by the board at request of Prosecutor Lester S. Reid. Chairman Overly stated Reid evidently anticipated a request for a recount.

CHARGES PUT AGAINST YOUTH; GOES TO JAIL

Following the discovery of Miss Bernice Whitson, 15, Circleville, who disappeared from her home Saturday night and was found Monday night at the home of relatives in Commercial Point, statutory charges were filed Monday against Clarence Richard Conrad, 21, Circleville, Route 3.

Conrad, who appeared for hearing before Mayor William Cady, Tuesday night, pleaded innocent of the charges and was bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bond. He was committeed to County Jail after failure to provide the necessary bond.

The charges were filed against Conrad by Miss Whitson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Whitson, Sheriff Charles Radcliff said.

LIFE TERMER IN PRISON FOR ANOTHER PERSON TO APPEAR BEFORE BOARD

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—Julius Kruse, 28, life-term Ohio Penitentiary prisoner from Stark County who walked away from the institution recently and persuaded another man to confess the crime for which he was sentenced, will be granted a hearing tomorrow by the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission.

Stark County Prosecutor A. C. L. Barthelmeh said he would recommend Krause's immediate release. Curtis Kuemerle, the man who assertedly confessed the murder of a decade ago, was to accompany Barthelmeh.

Kruse walked away from his post at the Ohio State Fairgrounds in August, returned to Canton and assertedly induced Kuemerle to confess the murder of a Canton grocer ten years ago.

Washington Merry-Go Round

Madrid, and a leader of the British appeasement group.

Since November 5 these ideas are dead. But the motives behind them are extremely important. Inas much as they may crop up again, here is their background.

Ever since Hitler's proposed invasion of England was frustrated last September, Nazi diplomats have sent out feelers to the effect that Germany now had almost the entire continent of Europe and might be satisfied to drop the war, leaving England to stick to its own islands.

This, of course, would be an excellent set-up for Germany. Economically, she now has some of the wealthiest areas of Europe under her thumb, especially with the penetration of Romania. Her trading area, under the now rewritten map of Europe, is vast and wealthy. Hitler could well afford to sit tight for the time being and concentrate on the development of these new areas.

Such a peace, of course, meets no response from the great majority of the British people, nor the Government, and absolutely none from Winston Churchill. However, it has been received favorably by the little group of "City" men (London's Wall Street) which encouraged the Nazi invasion of Czechoslovakia so they could get Czech factories, and who actually lent money to Hitler after Munich.

WALL STREET AND WILLKIE

This group sees British factories blasted, argues that it will take months to rebuild them, and that meanwhile British trade will lose out to the U.S.A. So this group has been encouraging the backstage peace feelers with Berlin, via Spain and Sweden.

Furthermore, all diplomatic reports indicate that had Willkie been elected, this group would have launched a strong drive for appeasement. This does not necessarily mean they would have had Willkie's blessing. But it does mean that Wall Street groups in the United tSates which think along exactly the same line as London's "City" were all ready to cooperate in this drive and expected to get support from Willkie.

In fact, some of the wisest wiseacres in the Diplomatic Corps were cabling their government just before November 5 that an appeasement peace was certain if Roosevelt were defeated.

Latin American governments, whose weather vane is the United States and who study us with a microscope, actually were getting ready to warm up to Hitler. But since November 5, the effect is just the opposite. Now the diplomats are writing it down as certain that the United States will give increasing help to the British and there will be no appeasement.

Note — However, help to the British will have to be on a much bigger scale than ever. For British shipping losses are mounting far higher than the censors will let the press cables admit.

JOHNSON AND GINSBURGH

General Hugh Johnson's closing campaign speech for Willkie in which he used Jewish dialect resulted in more than 10,000 protests from radio listeners.

But what most of the American public did not know was that when General Johnson cast reflection on Colonel Robert Gisburgh, he was being unfair to one of the finest officers in the U. S. Army.

Colonel Ginsburgh comes from an old and arsitocratic family. His great-uncle, Baron Ginsburgh, built the Trans-Siberian railroad for the Czar of Russia. The Colonel is a West Point graduate and field artillery officers who has served both Republicans and Democrats with equal brilliancy. He was aid to Secretary of War Pat Hurley, a Republican; later to Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson, a Democrat and now is attached to Assistant Secretary Patterson, a Republican.

Colonel Ginsburgh has a law degree from Harvard, and if he has any accent—as insinuated by General Johnson—it is Harvard, not Jewish.
